10 CENTS PER WEEK

IN LOCAL POLITICS

The Battle is Now Getting Warm in Paducah.

Knobs of Politicians Gathered on the Corners and Both Sides Claim the Victory.

HOT FIGHT FOR TRUSTEES

It is now little over a week until the Democratic primary, and the contest is warping up. Today probably more people have been on the street corners down town discussing politics than since the present campaign opened, and both sides claim the victory.

A Potter leader said today that Councilman Potter would beat Mayor Yeiser for the nomination 500 votes, while the Yeiser men, who include some of the most experienced politicians in the city say that Col. Potter's friends won't be able to find him the day after the primary.

The crowds are just beginning to turn loose the money now, and the "moocher" will be in his element for the next week or more. The hard workers are out button-holing the boys and there is something doing on both sides.

Col. Potter's adherents hang out at Lang's drug store, and Mayor Yeiser's about the city hall and Dr. John Bond's drug store.

According to reports there is to be a lively fight for school trustee nominations in the primary also, resulting from the disgraceful row in the board of education over the dismissal of teachers a few months ago.

The ticket supposed to be opposed to the present board, is called the anti-Hatfield faction, and is said to be:

First Ward—O. W. Morrison, H. R. Robertson.

Second Ward—Dr. J. R. Coleman, Frank B. Mag.

Third Ward—H. C. Overby, Thomas Herndon.

Fourth Ward—J. M. Fuller, J. A. Cole.

Fifth Ward—W. G. McFadden, Joseph Mattison.

Sixth Ward—J. R. Renfro, Wm. R. Jones.

Card have been printed and distributed bearing the above and underneath is the following:

"If this ticket is elected it will favor home teachers, all things considered."

"It will not displace experienced teachers to satisfy the whim of any one man."

"It pledges the taxpayers of Paducah that it will not transact public business behind closed doors."

"It will not hold night caucuses attended by a few members."

"It will favor the economical expenditure of public money, consistent with progress and efficiency in the management of school affairs, but will not favor drawing on future funds to the amount of $10,000."

Messrs. Fuller and Mattison are on the present board, but are not Hatfield men.

DIVORCE SUITS FILED.

Allie McCord has filed suit against Albert McCord for divorce and the custody of their two children, Farley and Ruby. They were married in 1886 and she alleges lived together until July 14 last when her husband shot at her twice with a pistol.

Nora Clark sues Shelly Clark for divorce alleging abandonment. They were married January 6, 1903.

The men escaped with $3,000, which the employees were counting, and left no trace.

MISHAPS OF A DAY

Colored Porter Has Hand Badly Cut While "Skylarking"

Rector Sykes Slightly Hurt by Accidental Discharge of Pistol.

Ed Marable, the colored porter at the Charles Denker saloon, was badly cut last night about 8:30 o'clock while "sky larking."

Marable and another negro got into a difficulty and the latter seemed to be more in earnest in wanting to fight about it, according to Marable. He pulled out his knife and began to slash. Marable threw out his right hand to ward off the blow and caught the blade with the full force of the swing. The edge cut deep and the wound bled profusely. Drs. Robertson and Hoyer dressed the injury and it required twenty four stitches to close the wound. Marable claims he was only playing but that the other negro was fighting.

Bert Haynes, while pushing a truck containing a large axle at the I. C. shops Saturday evening, was painfully hurt by the truck striking a rail, the rebound of the axle causing it to strike him on the hip. He was compelled to quit work, but is better today.

Rector John W. Sykes, of Grace Episcopal church, accidentally shot himself Saturday while cleaning an old pistol he had kept in his desk for several years. The ball only slightly grazed his hand, and the rector dressed the abrasion himself.

A little son of J. F. Nicholson, of South Fourth street, had his right arm broken near the elbow Saturday night by falling from a street car. Dr. B. B. Griffith attended him.

Mrs. J. C. Maret and daughters have gone to Princeton on a visit.

SHAMROCK STILL TRAILS BEHIND RELIANCE

New York, Aug. 31.—The Reliance crossed the line at 11:45:20; the Shamrock 11:45:32. At 1:30 the Reliance was one mile

A NEW TRAINMASTER

Mr. Lloyd Grimes Will Succeed Mr. J. F. Sheridan.

Popular Traveling Engineer Goes Up Higher—His Friends Proud.

OTHER RAILROAD NOTES.

Tomorrow the resignation of Mr. J. F. Sheridan, trainmaster of the Louisville division of the I. C., takes place and Mr. Lloyd Grimes, of Paducah, popular traveling engineer will succeed him.

Mr. Sheridan was formerly chief dispatcher at Louisville for the I. C., and succeeded Trainmaster T. A. Banks here several months ago. Mr. Sheridan resigned to go into the drug business in Louisville, railroad work being too hard on him.

His successor, Mr. Grimes is a Paducah boy, thoroughly competent, and has numerous friends who will be pleased to learn of his deserved promotion. He started in the railroad service as a fireman and won his way by hard work, and is one of the most popular employees of the road with both the officials and employees. He is thoroughly acquainted with the workings of the division and will not have to make any preliminary inspection.

tions before entering into his new duties.

Engine No. 364 was derailed at Wingo yesterday obstructing the main line for several hours, and making it impossible to bring the noon passenger train No. 102 through on the regular route. The engine lost a driving wheel at Fulton and was being brought here for repairs when she jumped the rails at Wingo. The dispatchers sent the passenger around via East Cairo from Fulton, arriving here in the early afternoon several hours late. The wrecker was sent down to pick up the engine and bring it here for repairs.

QUITE A CHANGE.

COOLER WEATHER AND RAIN IS GREATLY NEEDED.

Yesterday and today have been quite different from the several hot days of last week, when 100 was registered. The mercury went down to 57 last night, and yesterday the maximum was 79, twenty degrees cooler than most of last week. Today it will be 80 or thereabout, but the weather is becoming warmer.

Farmers everywhere in this section report great damage to the crops from the dry spell, and there will be much loss to gardeners and farmers and consequent elevation of prices if there is not rain soon.

REPUBLICANS NOMINATE.

Salt Lick, Ky., August 31.—Republicans of Bath and Rowan nominated Millard Fonth, ex-sheriff, for representative.

FRESH POLICE NOTES

A Few Small Thefts and Robberies Reported.

One Negro Cut and Another Has an Arm Broken in Fight Here.

126 ARRESTS THIS MONTH.

Mr. G. W. Rorer, of Rowlandtown, has reported to the police the loss of a fine cow which has been missing since Saturday. He thinks she was stolen.

Officer Tom Potter is off duty after today until the primary in order to prosecute his canvass for city jailer. He will remain out working for his interests until after the primary.

Henry Gunter, colored, is an honest man. He found a ladies watch at the show grounds Saturday and reported it to the police, leaving the watch there for the owner should it be called for.

The police have done their usual good work this month, and the total arrests, which will not be known until tomorrow, will be in the neighborhood of 126, the number on the books up to noon today.

The grocery of Mr. Pete Rogers, in Mechanicsburg, was entered by thieves last night or Saturday night and a few nickles taken. The miscreants went in the back door, and are believed to be boys.

Charles Bryson, colored, was arrested today by Officer Hendley and Owen on "Red Row" for assaulting E. N. Nelson, colored, and breaking his arm. Both are railroad men and their fight was over family matters according to reports.

F. M. Milburn, of Lone Oak, reported to the police today that he lost his wallet containing $37 somewhere on the train from Memphis to Louisville. He had it in his back trousers pocket and is confident he lost it on the train, but is not certain.

Mr. J. Andy Bauer has as yet discovered no trace of the $400 worth of jewels stolen from his residence Friday, circus day. He thinks the valuables were taken while the family were out front, probably in the afternoon, and that the thief went up the back stairs. All the diamonds and other jewelry taken were in the same box.

Kid Allen, alias "Black Cat" was cut by John Williams at 1117 South Ninth street Saturday night. It is said he went home and found Allen sitting on the bed and without parleying began cutting him with a knife. They had had trouble before and Williams made good his escape. The other will probably recover.

NEW INSPECTOR.

ONE FROM WILD AND WOOLY WESTERN DISTRICT COMES TO PADUCAH.

The force of postoffice inspectors now operating in Kentucky has been joined by Joseph F. Bullman, of Boston, who is now working out of Louisville. Mr. Bullman was one of the cleverest inspectors in the East.

The Kentucky inspectors now consist of Messrs. Hoeford, Bullman and Susong. Inspector-in-chief Vickery has assigned Hoeford and Bullman to special work.

Before coming to Kentucky Mr. Hoeford had his headquarters in Kansas City, and operated in surrounding states, including Oklahoma. There he had many interesting experiences.

ROOF BURNED OFF—The roof was burned off a house occupied by Annie May McClure, colored, on Jones street about 6 o'clock Saturday evening. The property is owned by Mrs. Mollie Allen.

NO POISON WAS FOUND

Stomach of the Deceased Bill Cox Analysed Here.

No Traces of Any Kind of Poison Found by Local Chemists and Doctors.

WIDOW IN JAIL NOW.

Benton's latest sensation seems to be nipped in the bud, and Bill Cox, a whilom noted bootlegger of that locality, may be again invested with his halo as a martyr for dying because he could not make an honest living. A few days ago it was announced that Bill went to Illinois to get work, after having been converted and induced to abandon his life of illicit liquor selling, and being unable to get work returned to Benton and found his wife engaged in the old calling, that of running a blind tiger.

The usual allowances were made for the perennial weakness of human nature about correctly reporting such things, in considering the sad story of Bill's demise and whether Bill snuffed off for the above reason or not, he died Friday night, it is supposed from a dose of morphine taken with suicidal intent.

Saturday some one reached the conclusion that he was poisoned by his wife and W. R. Burtram, a citizen alleged to have been a competitor with Bill in the liquor traffic, as well as in the affections of Bill's wife.

The village detectives got to work and soon had a fairly large sensation worked up. The coroner and other officers concluded there were grounds for suspecting Mrs. Cox and the man of the deed, and the coroner's jury thought likewise. A verdict was returned stating that there were sufficient grounds for holding the suspects, and they were arrested. A son of Burtram, who was not in Benton at the time, was also sought but not arrested. The widow was arrested after the burial while returning from the grave yard.

The stomach of the dead man was removed and placed in a glass jar and brought to Paducah. It was Saturday night turned over to Dr. M. M. Coolidge, of the Illinois Central hospital, and yesterday with several local chemists and doctors he made a test and found no trace of poison of any description. It was alleged that the widow had previous to Cox's return from Illinois purchased morphine, and was supposed that she had given him a dose of that in a cup of coffee. Another test of the stomach will be made this afternoon, and it will be the concluding test. It is said that it is certain that he did not die from morphine or strychnine poisoning and the test today will be for one other poison. It is reasonably certain from the analysis already made, it is understood, that Cox did not die from any kind of poison, as it would have been impossible for him to have died from poison taken through the stomach and traces of it not remain.

Mrs. Cox was brought to the city last evening and lodged in the county jail for safe keeping. From the present outlook there will be no evidence against the accused.

SUCCEEDS STOCKHAM

JOHN B. HARRIS IS MADE BOILER INSPECTOR FOR THIS DISTRICT.

Nerves

As Steady as Clock Work.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Made Them So

After Years of Heart and Nerve Trouble.

Weak and hungry spells indicate a nervous affection of the heart. The nerves are not getting the nourishment they need, and unless treatment is speedily begun, disastrous results are sure to follow. When strengthened, invigorated and restored to their normal state the nervous system abounds in energy, vitality and nerve-force, and successfully resists the attack of disease and decay. Dr. Miles' Nervine is the true nerve tonic, furnishing, as it does, the exact element of nourishment and strength which the shattered nervous system requires, so that good results, noticeably pronounced, follow the giving of the first few doses. It is a wonderful nerve specific.

"For many years I was a sufferer from heart and nervous troubles. I would have spells when I would be uncommonly hungry even after eating; headache, sour stomach, giving pains, weak, trembling, spells, me sometimes quite severe. The doctor gave only temporary relief from pain and I decided to try Dr. Miles' Nervine. I began with one bottle of the Heart Cure and one of the Restorative Nervine, and they helped me so much that I got some more. When I had taken six bottles my nerves were as steady as clock-work. I could eat anything I wanted and as much as I wanted without it hurting me. I thank Dr. Miles for the good it has done me."—JOHN B. ADAMS, Glenn, Ga.

ROCKY ROAD AHEAD

Much Money Will be Lost by Tobacco Men.

The Trust Will Pay No Middlemen's Profits, but Will Operate Its Own Stemmeries.

NO RELIEF IN SIGHT.

The Imperial Tobacco company of Great Britain as told in the dispatches, has notified its brokers across the water that henceforth they will use their own purchases in the United States, buying direct from the grower.

This means that they will establish stemmeries throughout the tobacco belt just as the Gallaher Limited company and other independent manufacturing concerns are doing or else make contracts with home buyers after the order of the Regie contracts. It is thought that a prominent Henderson tobaccoist who has just lately returned from England, has a big contract to supply tobacco to the trust, and the supposition is that he will blanket contracts to tobacco dealers at the various markets in this section.

Just what effect this change will have upon the market remains to be seen. Several big stemmeries will be erected throughout the dark tobacco district.

The trust now owns stemmeries in Paducah and Henderson, the one here being at Fifth and Clay.

It was first owned by Mr. Ed Vauzhan, Sr., and afterwards by Wm. Clarke, of Liverpool, England, who bought it.

It is said that because of the trusts change of methods hundreds of thousands of dollars will be lost this year because of the fact that the rehandlers will be unable to sell the tobacco for what they have already paid for it. According to reports several Paducah men and firms will lose considerably. There seems to be no practicable way to change the present order of things and the ultimate result will likely be that many tobaccoists will go into other business.

WILL BE NEW.

THE STEAMER HARRY BROWN BEING OVERHAULED.

Engineer Charles Johnson of the Harry Brown, will probably not return to work on his boat for some time, as he is undergoing general repairs. He is now here visiting his family. She is the favorite towboat of the Pittsburgh coal combine and is now at Louisville undergoing a general "tear down and buildup" for next season's work. All her machinery has been overhauled, boilers placed in fine shape, her old nose, torn off to be replaced by new, fantails rebuilt, and an entirely new wheel is being wovep. The materials are out over at the Howard shipyard and conveyed to her in skiffs. She will be repainted all over.

PHYSICIAN AND DRUGGISTS.

Ford & Sturgeon, a prominent drug firm at Rocky Hill Station, Ky., writes: "We were requested by Dr. G. B. Snigley to send for Herbine for the benefit of our customers. We ordered three dozen in December, and we are glad to say, Herbine has given such great satisfaction that we have duplicated this order three times, and today we gave your salesman another order. PADUCAH FIRM SUED

M. Kahn & Co., Defendants in a Damage Suit.

J. A. Tilley Says They Libelled Him in a Letter Written to a Mayfield Firm.

$5,000 THE AMOUNT ASKED.

J. A. Tilley, of Mayfield, has filed suit in the Graves circuit court against M. Kahn and Co., of Paducah, the well known whiskey dealers, for $5,000 damages.

Says the Mayfield Messenger of the suit:

Tilley recites in his petition that in a letter written by said M. Kahn and Co., on December 3, 1903, to the Mayfield Lumber Co., concerning him, that the following false, libelous and unlawful language was used: "We are in receipt of yours dated 2nd inst., in reply we beg to state that Mr. Tilley obtained goods from you under false pretense, as we had nothing whatever to do with nouse he built. We understand he did the same thing with one or two other houses of your city, and they compelled him to come to time. We are satisfied you can make him pay without further trouble by showing where he obtained the goods under false pretenses."

The above language was used by the defendant in a letter to the Mayfield Lumber Co., which the plaintiff claims was false and untrue and damaged him in the sum of $5,000.

The firm of M. Kahn and Co., are distillers and dealers in whiskeys on Broadway, in Paducah, and the petition states that said firm is composed of Fannie Kahn, Henry Kahn, Max Kahn and Helie Kahn, and prays judgment against each for $5,000 and all other proper relief.

A WOMAN'S COMPLEXION.

It is rank foolishness to attempt to remove sallowness or greasiness of the skin by the use of cosmetics, or "local" treatment as advocated by the "beauty doctors." The only safe and sure way that a woman can improve her complexion is by purifying and enriching the blood, which can only be accomplished by keeping the liver healthy and active. The liver is the seat of disease and blood pollution. Green's August Flower acts directly on the liver, cleanses and enriches the blood, purifies the complexion. It also cures constipation, biliousness, nervousness, and induces refreshing sleep. A single bottle of August Flower has been known to cure the most pronounced and distressing cases of dyspepsia and indigestion. New trial size bottle, 25 cents; regular size, 75 cents. At all druggists. DuBois, Kolb & Co.

SITE SELECTED

RED MEN'S CARNIVAL TO BE ON WEST BROADWAY.

It was decided Saturday evening to hold the Red Men's carnival on the site opposite the Illinois Central hospital and preparations will begin soon for the big attractions to be located on it during the week. The feature of having in connection a merchants' display has been abandoned.

Advertising matter for the carnival will be sent out to all cities within a radius of 100 miles and the county and city will be well decorated with big posters.

WATCH FOR A CHILL.

However slight at this time of the year and in this climate, it is the forerunner of malaria. A disposition to yawn and an all-tired-out feeling even comes before the chill. Herbine, by its prompt stimulative action on the liver, drives the malarial germs out of the system, purifies the blood, tones up the system and restores health. 50c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

POWERS SENTENCED

The Date of Execution Fixed for Nov. 25th.

New Trial Denied and an Appeal Was Asked and Granted.

MAY GO TO FEDERAL COURT.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 31—At a brief session of court Saturday afternoon Judge Robbins passed sentence upon Caleb Powers, fixing the date of execution for November 25, but granting a stay of execution, pending an appeal.

The passing of the sentence was a dramatic scene. When the condemned man was asked if he had any cause to show why he should not be sentenced he replied simply and with a smile: "Not guilty, Judge." "If that be true," replied Judge Robbins, "then an awful calamity has befallen you and this commonwealth, but as you have been found guilty by a jury of your peers, and after testimony in your behalf has been heard, and your counsel and yourself have argued the case, I must, as an officer of the state, sentence you to death."

"You are now ordered to the jail, there to be kept until November 25, when you will be hanged by the neck until dead."

During the ordeal the condemned man faced the Judge unflinchingly, and at its close sat down, looking as calm and cool as if he had the prospect of life instead of ignominious death before him. Under Judge Robbins' order the prisoner remains at Georgetown. The case may finally go to the United States Supreme court upon a question of the selection of a partisan jury.

A WORM KILLER.

J. A. J. Montgomery, Paxico, Wayne county, Mo., writes: "I have little twin girls, who have been bothered with worms all their lives. I tried everything to relieve them, which failed until I used White's Cream Vermifuge; the first two doses brought four worms from one of them; the next two doses, twelve, one of them measuring twelve inches; the other child was only relieved of four worms. It is a most excellent medicine." White's Cream Vermifuge is good for children. It not only destroys worms, it helps the child to perfect growth, wards off sickness. 25c at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

MAY RUN FOR JUDGE

CONVENTION TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY AT PRINCETON.

Judge Clifton J. Pratt, of Madisonville now attorney general of Kentucky, is being urged to make the race for circuit judge in that district, and if he will accept may secure the nomination, which will be made at a convention to be held Wednesday at Princeton by the Republicans.

CURED PARALYSIS.

W. S. Bailly, P. O. True, Texas, writes: "My wife had been suffering five years with paralysis in her arm, when I was persuaded to use Ballard's Snow Liniment, which cured her all right. I have also used it for old sores, frost bites and skin eruptions. It does the work." 25c, 50c and $1 bottles at DuBois, Kolb & Co.

POPULAR MAN DEAD.

Murray, Ky., Aug. 31—R. A. Albritton, captain of the military company of this place, died at his home, east of town, of typhoid fever, after an illness of only a few days. He leaves a young wife, a bride of only a few months. Capt. Albritton was twenty-five years of age, and was one of the most popular young men in the county.

RHEUMATISM

An A the Year Round Disease.

Rheumatism does not come and go with winter time always; in fact some suffer more during the Spring and Summer than at any other season. When the blood is charged with Uric Acid, Alkali and other irritating poisons, then the system is in the right condition for Rheumatism to develop, and an attack is liable to come at any time, Winter or Summer. Rheumatism, because it attacks different parts of the body, and is sudden or slow in its action, is given various names such as acute and chronic, muscular, articular, inflammatory, mercurial and sciatic, but it is the same old acid blood that causes all. Some are constant sufferers, while others have only occasional spells of Rheumatism, but either kind is wearing upon the constitution, and in time produces stiffness in the muscles and joints, and sometimes the acids thrown off by the blood settle upon the valves of the heart and ends suddenly and fatally.

It won't do to let Rheumatism run on. It is a dangerous disease, and you can never tell where it is going to strike. Home remedies, plasters, liniments and such things as produce counter-irritation, are soothing and may relieve the pain temporarily, but the polluted, acid blood cannot be reached by external applications.

Rheumatism must be treated through the blood, and no remedy brings such prompt and lasting relief as S. S. S. It attacks the disease in the blood, neutralizes the acids, and removes all irritating poisons and effete matter from the system.

S. S. S. strengthens and enriches the thin acid blood, and as it circulates through the body, the corroding, gnawing poisons and acid deposits are dislodged and washed out of the muscles and joints, and the sufferer is happily relieved from the discomfort and misery of Rheumatism.

S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, does not contain any Potash or mineral of any kind, and can be taken with safety by old and young.

Rheumatic sufferers who write us about their case will receive valuable aid and helpful advice from our physicians, for which no charge is made. We will mail free our special book on Rheumatism, which is the result of years of practical experience in treating this disease. It contains much interesting information about all kinds of Rheumatism.

French Lick and West Baden Springs

In the highlands of Indiana—a two hour ride from Louisville there flow wonderful healing waters, that you'd spend hundreds of dollars to enjoy if they were in Europe.

A recent visitor from Philadelphia, who formerly went to Carlsbad every year, said: "I do not see why anyone goes to Europe for medicinal waters. The water is as beneficial and the scenery and surrounding country, the art and the opportunities for recreation are better; the hotels and all accommodations are much finer at French Lick-West Baden Springs—and this gentleman is a native of Switzerland."

The splendidly wooded hills with the cool invigorating gair of these highlands were one of the enjoy rambles in the depths of the forest, or rides and drives among the numerous bridle paths and roadways, afford pleasure to those who desire rest and quiet, while at the splendid and casino one can have all the entertainment and pleasures possible at the most fashionable resorts.

THE SATYR AND THE TRAVELER.

Find Another Man.

A Satyr ranging in the forest in winter, came across a traveler half starved with the cold. He took pity on him, and invited him to go to his cave. On their way the man kept blowing upon his fingers. "Why do you that?" said the Satyr, who had seen little of the world. "To warm my hands; they are nearly frozen," replied the man. Arrived at the cave, the Satyr poured out a mess of smoking potage, and laid it before the traveler, who at once commenced blowing at it with all his might. "What, blowing again?" said the Satyr. "Is it not hot enough?" "Yes, faith," answered the man, "it is hot enough in all conscience; and that is just the reason why I blow at it." "Be off with you," said the Satyr in alarm, "I will have no part with a man who can blow hot and cold out of the same mouth."

MORAL: Nothing can be more offensive to one of a sincere heart than to be that is with a different breath from the same mouth, who flatters a man to his face and reviles him behind his back.

Tribute to Abram S. Hewitt.

As a tribute to the memory of Abraham S. Hewitt a $500,000 fund is being raised by wealthy New Yorkers and the sum will probably be used as an endowment for the benefit of Cooper Union. The project is already an assured success, as Andrew Carnegie has subscribed $50,000, J. P. Morgan and William Earl Dodge $25,000 each, while such very wealthy men as W. C. Whitney, D. O. Mills and Wheeler H. Peckham are on the committee in charge of the enterprise. Mr. Morgan is treasurer of the committee.

New Issue for Kansas.

In Kansas a new issue has projected itself on the public. A new head of the state university just arrived from the east has tried to make the professors wear caps and gowns during class work, with the result of evoking scoffs from students and condemnatory resolutions from political clubs. Eastern contemporaries are commenting on the narrowness of fighting against caps and gowns, but a word or two might be said on the narrowness of fighting to introduce them where they are not wanted.—Exchange.

GOT FIFTY MEMBERS

Mr. Aleck Craig Much Pleased With Work Here.

The Ohio River Improvement Association Will Go on a Boom This Year.

MR. CRAIG GOES TO CAIRO

Mr. Aleck Craig, after two weeks work here in behalf of the Ohio River Improvement association, began work today in Cairo. He secured over 50 members while in Paducah and is well pleased with the result of his labors. When he has completed his work in Cairo he will visit small towns on the Illinois and Indiana side of the river.

The funds thus secured go towards securing legislation for improving the Ohio waterway, and making the stage nine feet from Pittsburgh to Cairo the year around. The work of securing a better stage of water in the Ohio and tributaries is receiving much consideration at present.

The promoters of the idea of improving Salt river which is one tributary will be at the coming convention of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, which is to be held at Evansville October 14 and 15, and they are going in such force that they intend to be heard and listened to. They claim that Salt river is one of the most important streams in the Ohio valley, and that so far it has received no real attention from Uncle Sam, although it was ceded to him thirty years ago by the state of Kentucky, with the distinct understanding that the United States was to place it in navigable condition by means of locks and dams. Since then the government has improved four streams in West Virginia, all of which were inferior to Salt river in many ways, but superior in the production of coal and iron. Facts and figures that have long been in possession of the government show that the improvement of Salt river would benefit twice as many people as any two of these in West Virginia put together. The aims of the Ohio Valley improvement association are to secure appropriations for tributaries of the Ohio as well as the main stream, and the people of Salt river valley intend to see that their stream is not left out in the next river improvement appropriation list.

The list of members to the association secured in Paducah by Mr. Craig is as follows: Will I. Levy, H. Well & Sons, Charles Reed, George H. Goodman Co., M. E. Jones, Louis Clark, Barry & Henneberger, B. H. Scott, City National bank, Friedman & Keller, E. W. Bockmon, George C. Wallace, E. E. Sutherland Medicine Co., M. Williams, Wallerstein Bros., F. N. Gardner & Co., Rndy, Phillips & Co., Shelton Bros. & Haseman, S. B. Caldwell, Henry A. Petter, Major J. H. Ashcraft, Captain James Owen, Owen Bros., J. R. Smith & Son, Langstaff-Orm Manufacturing company, Ferguson & Palmer company, W. F. Paxton, T. G. Ryman, Jr., Paducah Water company, Paducah Brewery company, R. H. Noble, J. W. Rigglesberger & Bro., Ohio Valley Lumber company, McKinney Veneer and Packing company, E. Farley & Son, H. A. Rose Lumber company, S. A. Cole, Paducah Veneer and Lumber company, Smith & Scott Tobacco company, Standard Tie company.

CHRONIC KICKERS.

The Paducah council is a great body for fussing. It fusses over bricks before they are bought and after they are put down, and then they will kick up a rumpus for a year or so about the way they are put down. They are great men for kicking.—Mayfield Messenger.

MET OLD FRIENDS

REV. W. H. PINKERTON SAW THEM ON THE STREETS OF ROME.

The fact that Paducahans are occasionally met in many places both in America and Europe is well known to every one who has ever traveled. It was demonstrated to Rev. W. H. Pinkerton, pastor of the First Christian church, who has just returned from a trip abroad, while he was in Rome.

Rev. Pinkerton had little thought of meeting anyone he knew when he suddenly came face to face with Hon. Henry Burnett and family, formerly of Paducah but now of Louisville. They were also doing Rome, and the little party from Paducah, Kentucky, needless to say, enjoyed the reunion there in the wide thoroughfare of Rome very much.

LONG ABANDONED ROADBED

EXCITED OVER REPORT THAT L. & N. IS BEHIND A NEW MOVE.

Sturgis, Ky., August 31.—Sturgis was thrown into a flurry of excitement today by the report that an L. and N. surveying corps was in the neighborhood going over a part of the old roadbed now utilized as a dummy line by the United States coal, coke and gas company's colliery. It has been rumored for some time that the L. and N. would likely build through here just as soon as it was demonstrated that the Illinois Central intended crossing the Ohio at Cave-in-Rock. Other movements in this section by the Illinois Central that would likely compete with the L. and N. traffic, lend an air of plausibility to the reports, and as the latter company still owns the old roadbed from Providence here, which was surveyed on to Shawneetown, Ill., the proposition is feasible.

ARRESTED FOR HORSE STEALING.—George Dnnn was taken to Mayfield Saturday night to answer to a charge of stealing a horse from Mr. Patton, of near Mayfield, and selling it to a Mr. Eley at Benton. Dnnn was preparing to catch a train for Paducah when arrested.

A BIG CASE

THE OWENS SUIT COMES UP TODAY AT METROPOLIS FOR TRIAL.

Judge James Campbell and Captain James Owen left this morning on the Fowler for Metropolis, where the suit of Captain Owens and others against the city of Brookport, three miles below Paducah, comes up for trial.

The trouble it will be remembered arose over the action of the town trustees of Brookport in giving the Illinois Central right of way which it is claimed interfered with the ferry business of the Messrs. Owens, who retaliated by filing the suit for recovery of the property, which was formerly owned by heirs residing in Paducah, and which it is claimed by the plaintiffs in the suit was never deeded to the city of Brookport. It is now a part of the public street there, and many thousand dollars are involved in the suit.

HARD AGROUND

THE VIVIAN SANK ONE BARGE OF SHELLS BELOW EVANSVILLE.

The Vivian which was at Paducah recently en route to Madien, Ind., for a tow of mussel shells, is hard aground at the mouth of Tradewater river, below Evansville, Ind. The two barges of shells she was on her way down with were gathered at Grandview, Ind., and are valued at several thousand dollars.

The steamer was given all the assistance possible, but is still aground and one of the barges has sunk. When the Evansville packet, J. B. Richardson passed her yesterday there seemed no prospect of her getting off until there is a rise in the river. She is en route to Dubuque, Ia.

During a joint debate between Governor Davis of Arkansas and Justice Wood of the supreme court the former was struck by his opponent and knocked from the platform.

In an address delivered at Springfield Governor Yates left no doubt of his determination to again become a candidate for the office of chief executive of Illinois.

THE WEATHER.

Fair tonight. Tuesday fair and warmer.

THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY.

President Roosevelt has repeatedly, since he became president, demonstrated to the people his ability to steer the ship of state. His redoubtable courage to do what he believes is right and to the best interest of the greatest number is too well known to justify attention's being called to it at this late date, but it is certainly not unwise to remark that President Roosevelt is making more friends every day that he lives, and friends among men of all politics, who recognize his ability, fairness and desire to work in the interest of his country.

When it was announced a few days ago that he had appointed Gen. Luke E. Wright, of Memphis, governor general of the Philippines to succeed Judge Taft, an Indiana Congressman said:

"Here is a prominent Democrat and ex-confederate taking up the work begun in the Philippines under McKinley and continued under Roosevelt. This should be a guarantee to Wright's own party that our policy in the islands is correct, and ought to still the clamor against it in the next campaign."

Commenting on the affair, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat truthfully says: "On its political side this selection of Wright for head of the civil government in the Philippines is wise. It will help to head off some of the anti-imperialistic howls against the administration for retaining the islands. But the chief reason which led to the selection of Gen. Wright for the post was his experience and fitness. He has served in the islands as vice governor for several years, and is known to have been warmly admitted by the president. It is safe to say that when the selection was made of the successor of Judge Taft the question of Wright's politics was not considered. The president did not make this appointment for any political purpose."

Like every other man of sense, Democrat as well as Republican, the president knows that his party needs no help from the south in 1904 to enable it to carry the country.

Anti-imperialism was never strong in the south. If the question of the retention of the Philippines could be voted on next year without any entangling alliances with prejudice or tradition or connection with other issues, the Republicans would carry four out of every five of the ex-slave states. The south was the original expansionist quarter of the country, and it holds to that ideal through all sorts of changes in the political and social situation. Possibly the selection of Wright may add a few thousands to the vote which the president will receive next year in the states below the Potomac and the Ohio, but these votes will not be needed. Moreover, the question of imperialism, notwithstanding the howlings of the corporal's guard of flag fanatics, is something which the Democratic leaders dare not bring up in 1904.

THE POWERS VERDICT.

Three years of political persecution have passed for Caleb Powers, and Saturday, the last time he was convicted, he was sentenced to hang. There may be some people who believe the sentence is just and that the trial of the case at this time and the verdict, have aided the Democrats in the approaching election, but the effect will be from indications, the opposite. When it is remembered that Yontsey, the convict, who says he was in a conspiracy to kill Senator Goebel, whose statements are denied by every one else, and who probably fired the shot if any of those accused did it, received only a life sentence, and that Caleb Powers was in Louisville at the time and couldn't have fired the shot or been present, the justice of the Powers' sentence will hardly appeal to a fair minded man. Only a short time ago, two men—Jett and White—were tried in this state for murder. One of them abetted by the other shot his victim from behind and eye witnesses swore to the fact, and yet these two men received only life sentences. Caleb Powers, who was not within 50 miles of the scene of the Goebel murder, is given a death sentence by a jury composed of Goebel Democrats, selected from a panel summoned by a Goebel man, and instructed by a Democratic judge. If there is any one who cannot see through this political conspiracy, and who believes for a moment that politics has not accomplished the conviction of Caleb Powers not once, but three times, it is because he is a very unreasonable man.

Politics has persecuted Caleb Powers and politics, perjury and prejudice, not evidence, have convicted him. If he is hanged it will be by politics, and the responsibility will be on the Democratic party of Kentucky.

Col. Morris Belknap, the Republican nominee for governor, has returned to Louisville from a successful round of county fairs, and is well pleased with his reception everywhere, and the people apparently are well pleased with Col. Belknap. He finds the Republicans solid and the Democrats disrupted, their chronic state. He finds that the soreness on account of the manner in which Col. John K. Hendrick was skinned has not yet disappeared, and expects many Democrats to vote for him in November. Col. Belknap will give the people a business administration, something they have not had since Gov. Bradley went out of office, and had precious few of before.

Senator Clark, of Montana, in an interview in Paris states that he will build a railroad from Salt Lake City, Utah, to Los Angeles, all by himself, and ask no help from any one. He says that he wants no one to take stock, and is not afraid of government ownership, because if the government ever does get control of the railroads, it will have to pay the owners a just compensation for them. He says further that government ownership will never come in our time, and that the party in power at the time the country gets the railroads will never be defeated because it will control the enormous vote of the railroad employees and thus perpetuate itself.

If the success of the Republican ticket in Ohio were ever in doubt, it would no longer be, now that Mr. W. J. Bryan has announced that he will go to Ohio to make speeches for the Democratic ticket.

SCHEDULE FOR TODAY.

Paducah at Cairo.
Jackson at Clarksville.
Hopkinsville at Henderson.

SATURDAY'S RESULTS.

Paducah 18, Cairo 12.
Henderson 8, Hopkinsville 6.
Clarksville 8, Jackson 1.

EACH TOOK ONE.

In the double header at Henderson yesterday Henderson won the first and Hopkinsville the second.

Paducah was defeated yesterday afternoon at Cairo in a well played game and although a number of Paducah visitors were disappointed in the outcome they were satisfied with the quality of ball put up by the Paducah team.

Cairo and Paducah worked hard the first two innings for a score, Cairo making her first tally in the third inning on Wallace's three bagger. Paducah had secured two hits up until that time but could not connect with Wilder's curve. He seemed to have plenty of steam and good curves yesterday. Wallace came in home on Rutledge's fly out to right field. Wallace followed in other innings with three baggers, making three triple hits to his batting credit. Edmunds hit a single in the first inning but was retired at second while trying to make two bags on it. Paducah got men on third base several times but failed to bring them in.

The summary of the hits and errors is as follows: Paducah 0, 6, 0; Cairo 6, 8, 3. Batteries: Doyle and Edmunds for Paducah, Wilder and Rutledge for Cairo.

About two hundred and fifty visitors went down on the excursion train and the Dick Fowler carried in about 100, making about 300 visitors.

Saturday afternoon the Paducah boys in the closing game of the series here beat Cairo by a score of 18 to 12, knocking Kirby the new Cairo pitcher out of the box, and getting all the hits they wanted off Brockett. This made three straights they took from Cairo.

BASEBALL NOTES.

The colored baseball team from Paducah was beaten at Cairo Saturday by a St. Louis team by a score of 2 to 0.

The Cairo management has tired of Wallace's sniping and told him yesterday to "play ball and keep his face shut." Wallace did this to perfection and played much better ball than he did here.

Rube Waddell and James J. Corbett are talking of starting together in vaudeville and the other two has been, Pitcher Freeman of Jackson, and invincible Brockett of Cairo, might go then and do likewise.

The L. A. L's defeated the Metropolis team at the home park Sunday afternoon in an uninteresting game by the score of 16 to 6. The feature of the game was the pitching of young Brabie, who struck out nineteen of the visitors.

The Cairo papers have found out what beat them here. It is the grounds! The grounds "are uneven and the sun is in the eyes of the players," but it wasn't the grounds that battered Brockett out of the box one day and two other crack pitchers the next, were here to say.

There are 136 leagues in America of an average of fifteen players each. It is conservative to estimate that on the average the players will draw a salary for the season of $1,000, which makes the grand aggregate of baseball salaries in America' organizer professional leagues $2,040,000.

Mitchell injured yesterday's game at Cairo and did not work. His decisions were all unpopular and only once did he make a questionable decision. This was two men on retired on a double play. Girard hit to short and forced a runner out at second but beat the throw on himself, but unfortunately was called out. There was no kicking on Mitchell's work.

Manager Gny Eichenberger, of the Cairo baseball team, has resigned and Powers, who formerly umpired has been made manager. It is said that a large crowd of knockers with their hammers was at the train to welcome the Cairo boys Saturday on their return from three straight defeats, and there was "something doing" when they unloaded. Manager Eichenberger was called a Jonah and resigned because of the dissatisfaction he caused in working all his pitchers here last week.

The game scheduled here yesterday between Paducah's L. A. L. amateur team and the Mayfield baseball team, was not played on account of the Mayfield team failing to show up. An engine was derailed at Wingo, and the noon train was brought around via East Cairo, not passing Mayfield at all. The Mayfield boys are here today, however, and will play a match game with the "Lax Fox" team at Wallace park this afternoon. The best amateurs in the city will play with the local team and an interesting game is expected.

IN THE COURTS

The Lovett-Taylor Case Being Argued This Afternoon.

Few Cases in the Police Court This Morning—Other Court News.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The injunction suit of Attorney L. K. Taylor, of the city, against Secretary of State C. B. Hill, the county clerks of McCracken and Marshall, and Attorney John G. Lovett, seeking to prevent the placing of Attorney Lovett's name under the roster on the ballots in the November election as nominee for commonwealth's attorney, came up this morning before Judge Husbands.

Mr. Lovett's attorneys filed a demurrer to the petition their contention being that the court has no jurisdiction. That the placing of a name under a party device is something that rests solely with the respective party authorities, and that no court has anything whatever to do with whose name goes under the device on the ballot, this question being left to the committee. The demurrer is still being argued this afternoon and on it probably rests the entire case. If it is sustained Attorney Taylor loses his case finally.

It was decided late this afternoon that the court had no jurisdiction in the case, which is a victory for Mr. Lovett.

POLICE COURT.

Today's cases before Judge Sanders were all misdemeanors.

Two strangers named Wilson and Palmer were fined for being drunk.

Ed Eaker was fined $5 and costs for slapping a boy who delivered ice and was alleged to have been offensive.

A breach of the peace case against George Hall who is alleged to have taken a drunken man from Henry Steinbrecker, and a case against Henry and Ida Steinbrecker for jumping on him, were left open.

A breach of the peace case against Will Brown, for pulling a boy off his son, was dismissed.

Jim Hale and Flora Jordan were dismissed on a breach of the peace charge, no one appearing to prosecute.

Bud Campbell, colored, was fined $20 and costs for using insulting language towards a white lady.

Sarah Anderson was fined $20 and costs for using insulting language.

A disorderly conduct case against Ed Farris was dismissed.

Gone to Michigan to visit Mrs. Will Jones, at her summer home there. Mr. Sanders will go to Columbus, O., in a few weeks to start on a fall drumming trip for the shoe firm for which he is traveling, but Mrs. Sanders will go from Michigan to Chicago with Mrs. Jones to remain until Christmas. She is improving from her recent illness.

Mrs. T. C. Clark and son, of Hopkinsville, Ky., who have been visiting the family of Captain J. E. Williamson, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. S. A. Minter, of Louisville, and daughter Miss May, have returned home after a visit to the family of Captain J. E. Williamson.

NEW INSPECTOR

Man From Washington to Succeed Mr. Holmes Here

Will Arrive Tomorrow—Mr. Holmes Having His Vacation at Present.

Postmaster F. M. Fisher today received a letter from Washington stating that the department had ordered Mr. Leo Caumann, superintendent of construction of public buildings, here to act as superintendent of the government addition here during its progress, and he will be provided with an office in the building. Mr. Caumann is now in Chicago and is expected today or tomorrow, his appointment becoming effective tomorrow.

He succeeds Mr. Julius C. Holmes, who is spending his vacation in West Virginia, and will be assigned to some other job when his vacation is over. Mr. Holmes was the first inspector detailed for duty here.

A contract was let today for a residence to be erected for Mr. J. C. Utterback in Arcadia, adjoining Mayor D. A. Yeiser's country home, which will be probably the handsomest home in the county. It will be constructed of brick and will cost about $10,000. The contract for all of the building except the brick work was given to Contractor J. W. Lockwood. The brick work went to Katterjohn and Wikel. The house will be two stories and will contain 12 rooms besides an attic and basement. The floors will be of hardwood, and the porch floors of cement. It will be heated with hot water, and a private plant will furnish a water supply for it. The plans were drawn by Architect William Brainerd.

Misses S. P. Moore and N. Z. Sonder, I. C. trained nurses, have returned from New Orleans, and other southern cities, where they spent their vacations.

MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD

(Based Upon the Mystery Surrounding the Fate of the Dauphin, Son of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette)

Copyright, 1901, by the BOWEN-MERRILL COMPANY

"I am the child now," she would say.

"Tell me the stories."

I repeated mythical tribe legends, gathered from Skenedonk on our long rides, unknitting them as eloquent as I could. She listened, holding her breath or sighing with contentment.

If any one in the household smiled when she led me about by the hand, there was a tear behind the smile.

She kept herself in perfection, bestowing incessant care upon her dress, which was always gray.

"I have to wear gray. I am in a cloud," she had said to the family.

"We have used fine gray stuff brought from Holland and wools that Mother Ursule got from Montreal," Katarina told me. "The Pawnees dye with vegetable colors. But they cannot make the pale gray she loves."

Skenedonk was not often in the house. He took to the winter hunting and snowshoeing with vigor. Whenever he came home I used to see him watching Mme. de Ferrier with saturnine wisdom. She paid no attention to him. He would stand gazing at her while she sewed, being privileged as an educated Indian and my attendant to enter the family room where the Pawnees came only to serve. They had the ample kitchen and its log fire to themselves. I wondered what was working in Skenedonk's mind, and if he reported calling one so buffeted a sorcerer.

The more I thought about it the less endurable it became to have her dependent upon the Grignons. My business affairs with Pierre Grignon made it possible to transfer her obligations to my account. The hospitable man and his wife objected, but when they saw how I took it to heart gave me my way. I told them I wished her to be regarded as my wife, for I should never have another, and while it might remain impossible for her to marry me, on my part I was bound to her.

"You are young, Mr. Williams," said Mme. Ursule. "You have a long life before you. A man wants comfort in his house. And if he speaks worth he needs a hand that knows how to distribute and how to save. She could never go to your home as she is."

"I know it, madame."

"You will change your mind about a wife."

"Madame, I have not changed my mind since I first wanted her. It is not a mind that changes."

"Well, that's unusual. Young men are often fickle. You never made proposals for her?"

"I did, madame, after her husband died."

"But she was still a wife—the wife of an old man—in the Pigeon Roost settlement."

"Her father married her to a cousin nearly as old as himself when she was a child. Her husband was reported dead while she was in hiding. She herself thought, and so did her friends, that he was dead."

"I see. But these girls married to old men! Mme. Jordan told me Madeleine's husband was very fretful. He kept himself like silk and scarcely let the wind blow upon him for fear of injuring his health. When other men were out toiling at the clearings he sat in his house to avoid getting chills and fever in the sun. It was well for her that she had a faithful servant. Madeleine and the servant kept the family with their garden and cornfield. They never tasted wild meat unless the other hunters brought them venison. Mme. Jordan said they always returned a present of herbs and vegetables from their garden. It grew for them better than any other garden in the settlement. Once the old man did go out with a hunting party and got lost. The men searched for him three days and found him curled up in a hollow tree, waiting to be brought in. They carried him home on a litter and he popped his head into the door and said: 'Here I am, child. You can't kill me!'"

"What did Mme. de Ferrier say?"

"Nothing. She made a child of him, as if he were her son. He was in his second childhood, no doubt. And Mme. Jordan said she appeared to hold herself accountable for the losses and crosses that made him so fretful. The children of the emigration were brought up to hardship and accepted everything as their elders could not do."

"I thought the Marquis de Ferrier a courteous gentleman."

"Did you ever see him?"

"Twice only."

"He used to tell his wife he intended to live a hundred years. And I suppose he would have done it, if he had not been tomahawked and scalped. 'You'll never get De Chaumont,' he used to say to her. 'I'll see that he never gets you!' I remember the name very well, because it was the name of that pretty creature who danced for us in the cabin on Lake George."

"De Chaumont was her father," I said. "He would have married Mme. de Ferrier and restored her estate if she had accepted him and the marquis had not come back."

"Saints have pity!" said Mme. Ursule. "And the poor old man must make everybody and himself so uncomfortable!"

"But how could he help being?"

"True enough. God's times are not ours. But see what he has made of her!"

I thought of my cloud mother walking luscious from the world upon a height of changeless youth. She could not feel another shock. She was past both initiation and poverty. If she had ever felt the sweet anguish of love—oh, she must have understood when she kissed me and said, "I will come to you some time!"—the anguish, the hoping, waiting, expecting, receiving, nothing, all were gone by. Even mother no longer touched her. Paul was grown. She could not be made anything that was base. Unseen forces had worked with her and would work with her still.

"You told me," I said to Mme. Ursule, "the Indians were afraid of her when they burned the settlement. Was the change so sudden?"

"Mme. Jordan's story was like this: It happened in broad daylight. Two men went into the woods hunting beaver. The Indians caught and killed them within two miles of the clearing—some of those very Winnebagoes you treated with for your land. It was a sunny day in September. You could hear the poultry crowing and the children playing in the dooryards. Madeleine's little Paul was never far away from her. The Indians rushed in with yells and finished the settlement in a few minutes. Mme. Jordan and her family were protected, but she saw children dashed against trees and her neighbors struck down and scalped before she could plead for them. And little good pleading would have done. An Indian seized Paul. His father and the old servant lay dead across the doorway. His mother would not let him go. The Indian dragged her on her knees and struck her on the head. Mme. Jordan ran out at the risk of being scalped herself and got the poor girl into her cabin. The Indian came back for Madeleine's scalp. Madeleine did not see him. She never seemed to notice anybody again. She stood up quivering the whole length of her body and laughed in his face. It was dreadful to hear her above the cries of the children. The Indian went away like a scared hound. And none of the others would touch her."

After I heard this story I was thankful every day that Eagle could not remember that natural happiness had its way with her elastic body.

Mme. Ursule told me the family learned to give her liberty. She rowed alone upon the river and went where she pleased. The men in La Baye would stop aside for her. Strangers disturbed her by bringing the consciousness of something unusual.

Once I surprised Marie and Katarina sitting close to the fire at twilight talking about lovers. Eagle was near them on a stool.

"That girl," exclaimed Katarina, speaking of the absent with strong disapproval, "is one of the kind that will let another girl take her sweetheart and then sit around and look injured! Now if she could get him from me she might have him! But she'd have to get him first!"

Eagle listened in the attitude of a young sister, giving me to understand by a look that wisdom flowed and she was learning.

We rose one morning to find the world buried in snow. The river was frozen and its channel padded thick. As for the bay, stretches of snow fields with dark pools and broken gray ridges met me at the end of the world.

It was so cold that paper stuck to the fingers like feathers and the nails tingled with frost. The white earth creaked underfoot, and when a sled went by the snow cried out in shrill long resistance, a spirit complaining of being trampled. Explosions came from the river and elm limbs and timbers of the house started up. White fur clothed the inner keyholes. Tree trunks were black as ink against a background of snow. The oaks alone kept their dried foliage, which rattled like many skeletons, instead of rustling in its faded redness, because there was no life in it.

But the colder it grew the higher Grignon's log fires mounted. And when channels were cut in the snow both along the bay above them lay and across country in every direction French trunks and out with jangling bells, and masts and men uttered voice sounds while sped as by miracle on the diffusing air from horizon to horizon. You could hear the officers speaking across the river, and dogs were like to shake the sky down with their barking. Echoes from the smallest nooks were born in that magnified, glaring world.

The whole festive winter spun past. Marie and Katarina brought young men to the peaks of hope in the "two-sing" seat and plunged them down to despair, quite in the American fashion. Christmas and New Year's day were great festivals, when the settlement ate and drank at Pierre Grignon's expense and made him glad as if he fathered the whole host. Mme. Grignon spun and looked to the house. And a thousand changes passed over the landscape. But in all that time no one could see any change in my cloud mother. She seemed like a child. She laughed and danced gaily. She trod the snow, and mulled in robes with Mme. Ursule and the girls flew over it in a French train—a sliding box with two or three horses hitched tandem. Every evening I sat by her side at the fire while she made little coats and trousers for me. But remembrance never came into her eyes. The cloud stood round about her as it did when I first tried to penetrate it.

My own dim days were often in mind. I tried to recall sensations. But I had lived a purely physical life. Her blunders of judgment and delusion of bodily shrinking were no part of my experience. The thinking self in me had been paralyzed, while the thinking self in her was alive, in a cloud. Both of us were memoryless, excepting her recollection of Paul.

After March sent the ice out of river and bay spring came with a rush as it comes in the north. Perhaps many days it was silently rising from tree roots. In February we used to say, "This air is like spring." But after such bold speech the arctic region descended upon us again and we were snowed in to the ears. Yet when the end of March unlocked us it seemed we must wait for the month of May to give us soft air and blue water. They suddenly it was spring, and every living soul knew it. Life revived with passion. Longings which you had forgotten came and took you by the throat, saying: "You shall no longer be satisfied with negative peace, Rome and live." Then flitting, exquisite, purple flaws struck across milk opal water in the bay. Fishing boats lifted themselves in mirage, sailing lightly above the water, and islands sat high, with a cushion of air under them.

The girls manifested increasing interest in what they called the Pigeon Roost settlement affair. Mme. Ursule had no doubt told them what I said. They pitied my cloud mother and me with the condensing pity of the very young, and unguardedly talked where they could be heard.

"Oh, she'll come to her senses some time, and he'll marry her, of course," was the conclusion they invariably reached; for the thing must turn out well to meet their approval. How could they foresee what was to happen to people whose lives held such contrasts?

"Father Pierre says he's nearly twenty-eight; I call him an old bachelor," declared Katarina; "and she was a married woman. They are really very old to be in love."

"You don't know what you'll do when you are old," said Marie.

"Ah, I dread it," groaned Katarina. "So do I."

"But there is grandmother. She doesn't mind it. And I never trouble her now."

"No," sighed the other. "Beans never trouble her now."

Those spring days I was wild with restlessness. Life revived to dare things. We heard afterward that about that time the meteor rushed once more across France. Napoleon landed at a Mediterranean port, gathering force as he marched, swept Louis XVIII. away like a cobweb in his path and moved on to Waterloo. The greatest Frenchman that ever lived fell ultimately as low as St. Helena, and the Bourbons sat again upon the throne. But the changes of which I knew nothing affected me in the Illinois territory.

Sometimes I waked at night and sat up in bed, hot with indignation at the injustice done me, which I could never prove, which I did not care to combat, yet which unreasonably waked the fighting spirit in me. Our natures toss and change, expand or contract, influenced by invisible powers we know not why.

One April night I sat up in the velled light made by a clouded moon. Rain points multitudes themselves on the window glass; I heard their sizzling. The impulse to go out and ride the wind, or pick the river up and empty it all at once into the bay, or tear Eagle out of the cloud, or go to France and proclaim myself, with myself for follower, and other feats of like nature being particularly strong in me, I struck the pillow beside me with my fist. Something bounced from it on the floor with a clack like wood. I stretched downward from one of Mme. Ursule's thick feather beds and picked up what brought me to my feet. Without letting go of it I lighted my candle. It was the padlocked book which Skenedonk said he had burned.

And there the scoundrel lay at the other side of the room wrapped in his blanket from head to foot, mummied by sleep. I wanted to take him by the scalp lock and drag him around on the floor.

He had carried it with him or secreted it somewhere month after month. I could imagine how the state of the writer worked on his Indian mind. He repented and was not able to face me, but felt obliged to restore what he had withheld. So, waiting until I slept, he brought forth the pad-locked book and held it out to me, beside my head, thus beseeching pardon and intimating that the subject was closed between us.

I got my key, and then a fit of shivering seized me. I put the candle stand beside the pillow and lay wrapped in bedding, clutching the small, chilly padlock and sharp cornered boards. Remembering the change which had come upon the life recorded in it, I hesitated. Remembering how it had eluded me before, I opened it.

The few entries were made without date. The first pages were torn out, crumpled and smoothed and pasted to place again. Rose petals and violets and some bright poppy leaves, crushed inside its lids, slid down upon the bed cover.

CHAPTER XXVII.

THE Padlocked Book.—In this book I am going to write you, Louis, a letter which will never be delivered, because I shall burn it when it is finished. Yet that will not prevent my tantalizing you about it. To the padlocked book I can say what I want to say. To you I must say what is expedient.

That is a foolish woman who does violence to love by inordinate loving. Yet first I will tell you that I sink to sleep saying, "He loves me!" and rise to the surface saying, "He loves me!" and sink again saying, "He loves me!" all night long.

The days when I see you are real days, finished and perfect, and this is the best of them all. God forever bless in paradise your mother for bearing you! If you never had come to the world I should not have waked to life myself. And why this I cannot tell. The first time I ever saw your tawny head and tawny eyes, though you did not notice me, I said, "Whether he is the king or not would make no difference." Because I knew you were more than the king to me.

Sire, you told me once you could not understand why people took kindly to you. There is in you a gentle dignity and manhood most royal. As you come into a room you cast your eyes about unfeeling. Your head and shoulders are erect. You are like a lion in suppleness and tawny color, which influences me against my will. You inspire confidence. Even girls like Annabel, who feel merely at their finger ends and are as well satisfied with one husband as another, know you to be solid man, not the mere image of a man.

Besides these traits there is a power, going out from you that takes hold of people invisibly. My father told me there was a man at the court of your father who could put others to sleep by a waving of his hands. I am not comparing you to this charlatan, yet when you touch my hand a strange current runs through me.

When we were in Paris I used to dress myself every morning like a priestess going to serve in a temple. And what was it for? To worship one dear head for half an hour perhaps.

You robbed me of the sight of you for two months.

Sophie Saint-Michel told me to be aware of loving a man. Today he says: "I love you! I need you! I shall go to the devil without you!" Tomorrow he turns to his affairs. In six months he says, "I was a fool!" Next year he says: "Who was it that drove me wild for a time last year? What was her name?"

Is love a game where men and women try to outwit each other, and man boasts, "She loves me"—not "I love her?"

You are two persons. Lazarre belongs to me. He follows, he thinks about me. He used to slip past my windows at Lake George and cast his eyes up at the panes. But Louis is my sovereign. He sees and thinks and acts without me, and his lot is apart from mine.

We are in a ship going to the side of the world where you are. Except that we are going toward you it is like being pushed off a cliff. All my faith in the appearances of things is at an end. I have been juggled with. I have misjudged.

I could have insisted that we hold Mont-Louis as tenants. The count is our friend. It is not a strong man's fault that a weak man is weak and unfortunate. Yet, seeing Cousin Philippe wince, I could not put the daily humiliation upon him. He is like my father come back, broken, helpless. And Paul and I, who are young, must take care of him where he will be least humbled.

I was overpowered in Mont-Louis and Paris. I like easy living, carriages, long tailed gowns, jewels, trained servants, music and spectacles on the stage, a park and wide lands all my own, exclusion from people who do not interest me, idleness in enjoyment.

I am the devil of vanity. Annabel has lost the points I have. When she is with me, I feel I have to think I shall be true and firm as a statue when she is a mass of wrinkles and a wisp of fuzz. When she is a mass of wrinkles and a wisp of fuzz she will be ripier and tenderer inside. But will the men see that? No. They will be off after a fresher Annabel. So much for men. On the other hand, I had but a few months of luxury, and may count on the hardness that comes of endurance, for I was an exile from childhood. There is strength in doing the right thing. If there were no God, if Christ had never died on the cross, I should have to do the right thing because it is right.

Why should we lay up grievances against one another? They must disappear, and they only burn our hearts. Sometimes I put my arms around Ernestine and rest her old head against me. She revolts. People incline to doubt the superiority of a person who will associate with them. But the closer our poverty rubs us the more Ernestine insists upon class differences.

Theatrical Notes.

Amusements: At The Kentucky, "Mr. Jolly of Joliet,"
At The Casino, Vaudville.

Mr. Thomas Roberts will be assistant to Manager English in The Kentucky's box office this season.

Prof. Harry Gilbert leaves about September 10 for New York, and from there goes to Berlin to complete his musical studies. He sails on the Neckar on the 16th.

"Dora Thorne" is on the boards for tomorrow night. It comes with a good cast and many praises as a good show. Miss Helen Carral has the leading role. Seats are now on sale for the production.

The Kentucky opens tonight with "Mr. Jolly of Joliet" as the attraction and Edward Garvie as the star. The play was here last season and gave satisfaction and the indications are for a good house tonight.

Mr. Trine S. James, who was leading man of the English stock here last summer and married a young lady of Evansville recently, will not take out a company presenting his own play this season, as he expected to do. Instead he has signed with the "A Gentleman from Gascony" company, going out of New York.

Messrs. H. B. Potter and W. C. Rice, well known carnival promoters who were here last spring as managers of the Ferrari Brothers carnival company and had been here before as promoters of carnivals, will this season have a big company known as the "Potter-Rice attractions" on the road. It will be mostly high-class vaudeville acts, and they will use them in the summer season in carnivals and in the winter in theaters.

Vaudeville continues to draw large crowds at The Casino and commencing tonight an entire change of bill will be presented including several new people. First, the great English magician, will remain over, also the Delmaines. The new features will be Raleigh and Bard, comedy sketch team, Minnie Nan, singing songlette and George Luke, singing and dancing comedian. The curtain will rise promptly at 8:20 and those who wish to see a good clean performance should not fail to go out tonight. The price of admission is only ten cents.

It is announced from New York that Robert Gran has virtually made a contract with Mary Anderson De Navarro, the Kentucky girl who became America's greatest actress, for 100 readings in this country, the price to be paid being $225,000. It will be her first appearance on the stage since her marriage. Mr. Gran states that in discussing the matter Mrs. De Navarro, she said if she ever came back here it would be only for the good she might do the profession, and the helpful advice she might give worthy persons of talent. The former genius, however, will find the stage is not today what it was when she left it, and that an entirely different class of attractions from what she was used to form the bulk of today's entertainment. After the novelty of seeing the Great Mary Anderson again wore off, she might herself have a hard time making good in these times of Lincoln J. Carter melodrama and cheap musical comedy. Owing to her Rip Van Winkle experience she would find many changes should she return to the stage, and would hardly be able to furnish many pointers to the profession of this era.

MR. CORCORAN AT THE PALMER

COMES FROM NEW YORK TO OPEN THE COLUMBIA
FOUNTAIN.

Mr. Albert Corcoran, the expert soda water dispenser, sent from New York by the American Soda Fountain Co., to open the new fountain recently installed at the "Columbia," formerly The Honsman, is registered at the Palmer. He is vouched for by his company as the greatest dispenser of high grade fountain drinks in America. He recently opened the famous Lieberman fountain in New York, was also for a long time with the Hyndler and ten years with Ricker's New York. He is now the leading man in the sundries department of The American Soda Fountain Co.

Mr. Corcoran will remain in Paducah about two weeks during which time he will superintend the Columbia opening. The open date will be announced with the next few days.
